Alyse, please find attached our response and supporting document.

I left a couple of voice mails after hours on Friday night but hopefully this email gets through to you ok.

Please confirm receipt of this email and we will Fedex a copy to you on Monday. Regret the delay but have had email issues and on the road this afternoon which prevented the transfer as planned.

Please note that information provided is confidential, proprietary and not intended for public disclosure and that the references within the responses to such documents are also confidential, proprietary and not intended for public disclosure.
